(ABC 6 News) - A small group in downtown Rochester is protesting the practice of circumcision.

As you can see from the pictures, they're wearing white clothes with red stains and carrying signs meant to grab attention.

While none of the protestors are from Rochester, they say they chose the Med City due to Mayo Clinic.

We've reached out to Mayo Clinic for comment.

The protestors say they're traveling through the Midwest and making more than a dozen stops, including Madison, Wisconsin tomorrow.
